We first sent the pictures of the products made by our previous customers to the customers, and the customers were very satisfied with our molds.

?customer's pattern?

Since we have not cooperated with customers before, the customers do not trust us very much. We sent our company's catalog to customers, and issued our company's CE certificate and various patent certificates.

Due to the epidemic, the customer could not come to visit the factory. The customer first found his friend and let his friends see our factory area and production range. The customer and friends were very satisfied after watching it, and then the customer had a video tour of the factory with us. We explained to customers a pet food production line that is about to be completed in our factory. The client asked a lot of details and quality questions, and shot a lot of videos for the client.

Customers are very satisfied with our factory environment and machine details.

Attached is a picture of the production line explained to the customer

The customer has prepared a workshop for Dog Food Manufacturing Equipment, but because the customer's output is too large and the workshop is relatively small, we have made a layout for the customer according to the customer's workshop area.

Enclosed herewith is the layout we made for our customers.
